Â Â Â Its..Q: Difference between new ClipboardItem() and new Text() when it comes to dealing with text content inside an iframe When I use new ClipboardItem() I'm able to retrieve the entire html code of a page in the iframe. However, when I use new Text() nothing gets pasted. I used a simple test page and if you copy a page from google and paste it in the iframe, nothing gets retrieved. I'm able to retrieve all the html. I've even tried setting the iframe to full content so that there is no scrollbar. I'm using Selenium with Chrome if it matters. A: Can you please check if you are using real copy / paste or just easy one in test, that will work with all html and all elements in the page. I am not sure if it will work, but try to get the element.getAttribute("contentDocument") which will get you the new content. If it returns something, that means it is actually not working with the new Text() and you should update the question with your new code. I tried to use the same with some iframes and it worked. Here is the sample of my code: var text = element.getAttribute("contentDocument") Q: Convert in degree to radian with Ruby I've tried to use the below two codes to convert from degree to radian: Code 1: Math.atan2(value.sub("°", ""), value.sub("°",
